9,000 TEUTONS OUT OF 30,000 WORKED UPON

Use Same Policy As That Pursued In Austria, Sudetenland

Adolf Hitler has promised that the Sudetenland will be his "last territorial demand in Europe." Where does he go from there? The question of the return of German colonies is a logical next step. This is the question that Milton Brouner discusses in a series of "behind-the-scenes" articles written for The Bulletin—EDITOR.

By MILTON BROUNER
Bulletin Foreign Staff Correspondent
LONDON, Oct. 26.—With 9,000 Germans out of 30,000 of European ancestry, the former German colony of Southwest Africa, now mandated to the Union of South Africa, is seen by the Nazis as a fertile ground for the Hitlerian policy of "peaceful penetration" by propaganda and the capture of government influence.

This was the policy pursued in Austria and the Sudetenland. And today the pattern is repeated in Southwest Africa, where Germany in the legislative assembly and the Nazi propaganda and its propaganda machine are working back on Teutonic Africa.

Back in 1920 Southwest Africa was mandated to the Union of South Africa. The territory was ruled by an administrator, who was chosen by the Union of South Africa. In 1922 the Southwest African people for some form of self-government. The Union of South Africa was willing, but felt that the Germans, who had remained in the colony and who wished to help rule it, should become naturalized subjects of the Union of South Africa.

LAIS PASSE
General Jan Smuts, then premier of South Africa, in London arranged with representatives of the German government to influence the Germans to accept. Accordingly in 1924, the law was passed automatically extending naturalization to the Germans who had lived in the territory before January 1, 1924. A self-government act was passed in 1928, then, in 1930, the Germans had a direct hand in the government of the territory. It was at that time, too, that the government began to have dealings with Germany. They became infected with the Nazi fever. They formed a Nazi party, and they organized a Hitler Jugend or youth group. They began to hate the British.

GERMAN LANGUAGE
They demanded that German be made one of the official languages of the territory along with English and Dutch. The Union of South Africa was perfectly willing to grant this, but in its own time. It was, however, unwilling to grant this, but in its own time.

In July, 1933, authorized Nazi agents, armed with written powers and with funds, came to Southwest Africa for the purpose of organizing the Nazis in the territory. Those who were reluctant were dragged into the Nazi net by threats of what would happen to their relatives and property in Germany. They were also told: "Hitler is going to get the colony back from South Africa. What happens, think what will happen to you if you are not a Nazi?"

The German schools became nurseries for Nazi recruits. Propaganda brochures were held in the villages. On one occasion the South African flag was substituted in 1934 by the German flag. The German element resigned from the Legislative Assembly and the Administrative Council.

PATIENCE EXHAUSTED
Patience being exhausted, the South African policy in July, 1934, raised the office of the administrator and the Hitler Jugend. An amazing collection of documents and letters was found. Hitler's own words were found. Hitler, had written from Germany.

By naturalization Germans do not lose their Germanity. If they do not give themselves up for lost. In February, 1934, a Nazi representative in Hamburg was told that all holders of office in German organizations in the territory must take oath.

It was at that time, too, that the government began to have dealings with Germany. They became infected with the Nazi fever. They formed a Nazi party, and they organized a Hitler Jugend or youth group. They began to hate the British.

without hesitation and with more rapidity than usual. Sir Henry Borden, who had been in the government since 1911, had left at the commencement of his remarks. When I began to read the memoirs, I discovered that the memoirs were not a collection of facts, but a collection of opinions.

This was typical of the vigor with which Borden had been in the government since 1911, had left at the commencement of his remarks. When I began to read the memoirs, I discovered that the memoirs were not a collection of facts, but a collection of opinions.

AT PEACE PARLEY
The dominions demanded and received the right to be directly represented in the peace conference. Borden led representatives of the dominions in the peace conference. He was a member of the League of Nations and in the accompanying labor convention the dominions should enjoy a consultative voice with their national importance and the part they played in the world.

The United States delegation, leading public opinion in the United States, was a member of the League of Nations and in the accompanying labor convention the dominions should enjoy a consultative voice with their national importance and the part they played in the world.

STARTED IN 1928
The dominions were 400,000 words and were started in 1928, five years after the Macmillan Commission. The first step was to get the dominions to agree to the request he wrote them. They replied that they would not do so until 1931. I told him I never would have embarked on such an adventure without the support of my colleagues.

FINALLY LLOYD GEORGE
When I wrote Lloyd George warning him the Canadian parliament might decide to withdraw from the League if the dominions were placed in a position of inferiority to the dominions.

"The dominions have maintained their place before the world during the past few years by their sacrifices that no nation outside of Europe has been able to do. I am confident that the people of Canada will not tamely submit to a dictation which declares that Liberia or Cuba, Panama or Haiti, Haiti or Ecuador must have a higher place in the International Labor Organization than can be accorded to their country."

The memoirs quote from Sir Borden's diary about a later interview on the subject with Lloyd George. "In talking to him I became convinced of an enormous amount of work that had to be done. I was told that the people of Canada would not tamely submit to a dictation which declares that Liberia or Cuba, Panama or Haiti, Haiti or Ecuador must have a higher place in the International Labor Organization than can be accorded to their country."

OFFENDING CLAUSE
The offending clause was struck out next day and other changes. Sir Robert had pressed in regard to the nine points affecting labor conditions in the peace treaty. He was accepted as an avowed supporter of Sir Robert's views. Of the final conference before the treaty of peace was handed to the dominions, Borden wrote in his diary: "Having obtained all I wanted, I saw no necessity for seeking any more." He died on May 14, 1919, in London.

On the following day I had a message from Sir Thomas White (Canadian Conservative minister) announcing his retirement from public life. He had been in the government since 1911, had left at the commencement of his remarks. When I began to read the memoirs, I discovered that the memoirs were not a collection of facts, but a collection of opinions.

SCREEN STAR SAVES GUEST: BADLY BURNED

Lytle Talbot Is Hero As $50,000 Home Is Destroyed

REVERLY HILLS, Calif., Oct. 26.—Lytle Talbot played a real life hero role Tuesday as he dragged his badly burned guest to safety in a fire that destroyed his $50,000 home. The movie actor's bravery may end his career before the camera.

Talbot was critically burned about the hands, face and head, and his hair was badly burned from his scalp.

TRAPPED BY FLAMES
Talbot was trapped by flames on the second floor when he was visiting his guest, Franklin D. Parker, who was badly burned from his scalp.

TAKEN TO HOSPITAL
Both men were taken to hospital, where doctors said their condition was critical. Police said they learned a party had been held at the home until early Tuesday morning and that the fire started after all the guests had departed except Parker.

Flames started on the first floor, probably from a cigarette. Talbot's real name is Lytle Holtby.

Planes At Suez
LONDON, Oct. 26.—Four Royal Air Force bombers which will attempt to better the world's non-stop distance, took off on a flight from Egypt to Australia, arrived today at Alexandria, Egypt, near the Suez canal, the air ministry announced here.

July 1, 1920, and asked the members to send in their votes for a successor.

The decline lay between Sir Thomas White and Mr. Arthur Meighen. On Borden's recommendation the Governor-General invited Sir Thomas to form a government but he refused because of ill health and Mr. Meighen became prime minister. He asked Borden to remain as minister without portfolio but Sir Robert was too ill to accept.

ON RECITIVITY ISSUE
Sweeping into power in 1911 on the reciprocity issue, he was soon in the midst of a gigantic struggle with the United States. The issue was a trade treaty with the United States which would have given Canada a break in his own cabinet. But in 1914, when the war broke out, he was forced to resign and he was never again in power.

Finally came the formation of the Union government, when he was offered to resign his premiership in favor of Sir George Foster. Mr. Justice Lyman P. Duff (now Sir Lyman) or anyone else would not have been able to carry on Canada's war effort and keep faith with the men in the cabinet. He was again persuaded to continue.

War peace had been finally signed and Canada was in the midst of the abnormal conditions which followed the end of the war. He broke down. He presented his resignation to the governor-general on the grounds of ill health and was never again in power.

Health Condition Of U. S. Citizen 100 Years Behind Times Declares Physician

2 DRUMHELLER MINES CLOSED; 400 ON STRIKE

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Oct. 26.—The health condition of the average United States citizen is 100 years behind what it should be, Dr. Abel Williams of Baltimore, very senior president of the American Public Health Association, said Tuesday.

Despite the fact the death rate for the first half of the year in the United States was lower than any time in history, it was still far too high compared with what can be done by the widespread use of existing medical and health knowledge in a national health program, the president said.

At the same time, Dr. Thomas Parran, surgeon general of the United States public health service, declared in another address at the association's annual convention here that a health program to extend such knowledge will be presented at the next session of congress, in January.

MILITARY VOTERS DECIDE IN TWO WEEKS

Forty-Seven States Ready To Pass New Deal Verdict

WASHINGTON, Oct. 26.—Two weeks from today millions of voters in 47 states will record their verdict against Franklin D. Roosevelt and the New Deal. Maine voted in September and again went Republican.

With the test only two weeks off, the "solid south" upholds solid Democratic as ever despite party warfare in the primaries. Only a possible handful of Republican House of Representatives victories there is foreseen by any observers. The state is mathematically certain to remain in Democratic control probably by a substantial margin.

GAUGE OPINION

That jives the outcome of election for the new house and the 30-odd years for governor as the factors by which the 1941 date of national opinion will be gauged. And the unknown quantity is now the personal popularity of President Roosevelt and his New Deal policies with the great mass of independent voters. These voters hold the balance of power and neither party registration nor party loyalty results of primary campaigns have given any real clue to their attitude.

Mr. Roosevelt's speech might be such a development of national opinion.

The investigation is growing in Washington that the president look forward to that speech as perhaps the most important he has delivered since his last inaugural address. His political confidence with major Democratic candidates in New York state and his coming over budgetary prospects for next year have attracted attention as indications of his preparation for the Nov. 5 speech.

CHAPTER XX DISCONSOLATELY Bob Tait sat in his apartment, tearing the pages from a music magazine. It was one to which he had mailed, some weeks before, a set of pictures snipped with his miniature camera in the Golden Bough on the night that Ladden Dombey was murdered.

Now he had to tell a few pictures and augment an income which, at that moment, had seemed nebulous to say the least.

Now as he tore the wrapper from the magazine he was startled to see a picture ribbon across the face of the cover, and on the red strip were black letters proclaiming: "On the Spot Pictures of the Murder of the Singing King."

Myrna Dombe's face, Tait turned to the pages. He gazed at them with a feeling of bitter loathing. It was too late to do anything. The inexorable world of printer's ink and presses and headlines had taken those pictures there—out of reach of regret. Almost against his will Tait gazed at the three pictures reproduced on the large top page of the magazine. One was of the Golden Bough early in the evening Ladden Dombey had been murdered. The "film of the singing king" was on the platform, very much alive and in characteristic manner, as if he were singing. The pictures were as if they were singing. The pictures were as if they were singing.

Those pictures were, as the magazine caption had pointed out, masterpieces of candid photography. They were examples of the detective of mind, the daring, the athletic co-ordination, of your perfect photographer in the person of the man who had been murdered.

$50,000 BOOM FOR BUILDING AT BONNYVILLE

Approaching winter is bringing to an end an unparalleled building boom in the history of this village. Permits totaling slightly over $50,000 have been issued during the past few months in Bonnyville, and at the height of building activity a shortage of labor was experienced. The total includes permits issued for the erection of a spacious modern school at a cost of $30,000 and the local day-schooling.

Repairs to the Central hotel, at a cost of $1,000, are completed and have completely changed the aspect of the building. A cost of $1,000 on the outside and extensive alterations in the bar and restaurant make the hotel fully modern in every respect.

Erection of a Quinnes new living barn is nearing completion. It will replace the one which burned last month from under-construction.

Alberta Retailers To Benefit of Interim Plan

Benefits Of New Policy Explained By MacLachlan

MacLachlan, first vice-president of the association.

Following their formal speeches, both government spokesmen were asked a series of questions by members of the audience, as well as being called upon to answer a series of written queries.

COMMENTS SPEAKERS

Mr. MacKenzie commended the speakers for their courtesy in answering all questions and giving of their time to explain the plan.

Both speakers admitted that the plan might have some rough edges, but said they were convinced it was workable and would bring benefits to the province.

If you have any constructive suggestions or criticisms to offer, Mr. MacLachlan said, we certainly would be glad to receive them.

The order-in-council on which the program was based had specifically stated that the bonus to be paid to consumers buying Alberta-made goods was to be three per cent.

Mr. Clark declared in answer to a question whether the plan might not be too good to be true.

He said that the plan was not more than that, but that it was a plan that would be added, and until new legislative authority was given a new bonus figure.

Asked if the promotion of Alberta-made goods would not produce the export of provincial commodities, Mr. MacLachlan was emphatic in his answer that he thought the advantages would far offset any handicaps.

"If the theory that the promotion of Alberta-made goods will hurt our export trade is true, then the consumer should logically accept that the new bonus figure for this province will hurt Alberta and I am sure he would not do that," Mr. MacLachlan submitted.

Although the provincial government had had officials check on the new industries that might be set up in the province, and it was known that there were definite economic openings for such new or enlarged enterprises, it was too early at the moment to divulge in detail what this expansion program would signify, he added.

The chairman of the social credit board was emphatic that the plan did not involve any suggestion of inflation.

He said that inflation meant any increase in the amount of currency put in circulation on the basis of the gold holding it had.

The interim program pivoted on the increase in business resulting from a consumer bonus, the promotion of provincial goods, and the operation of treasury branches, he remarked.

NO INFLATION VALUES

"There is no far as I can see, no element of inflation in the proposal at all," the speaker declared.

A special fund will be set up to carry out the plan, he said, to ensure the workability of the plan and the safety of the investment.

Appealing to retailers to view the plan in a non-partisan way, Mr. MacLachlan said he could not see why Alberta could not become the industrial center of the west, just as Ontario and Quebec were the industrial centers of eastern Canada.

Four new high-waisted monies, including a flying classroom for bombing, navigation, and gunnery, were shown to the audience.

The Canadian Royal Air Force was also represented.

Operating from overland wires but having rubber lines, they will be placed on a run of about six miles from South Edmonton over the low level bridge and McDougall hill in Edmonton's main business section and north on 95th street.

DOMINION LOAN

Overhead wiring and paving on the route will cost $50,000, when the city has been promised by the Dominion government as a two per cent loan under the Municipal Improvements Assistance act.

This expenditure is all the more so, as it is estimated for the years 1933-40, although most of the money will be spent in 1937.

Mr. Gibb said, "We have $200,000 paid already, the Dominion has promised us $150,000 at two per cent, and the remaining $50,000 will come out of earnings in 1938 and 1939. It should be clearly understood that there will be no increase in taxation on account of the borrowings."

Asked if he thought the city made a mistake when it received the loan in the last 10 years, Mr. Gibb replied: "No. We raised our rates and you cannot put burdens on the main line and continue to run street cars on the outskirts. But now that our main line gradually is complete, it is a good time to consider our future policy."

HALF-BREEDS DISCUSS PACT FOR COLONIES

Confer With Hon. Dr. W. C. Cross On New Settlement Plan

Representatives of the Alberta Milk Association went into conference yesterday with Hon. Dr. W. C. Cross, minister of health and in charge of relief, regarding settlement on crown lands in the western part of the province of the 7,500 half-breed families in the area.

Representing the Milk Association are Peter Tompkins, Joseph Dine, president of the organization, and Mrs. Peter, with Dr. Cross are P. J. Black and W. A. R. Ross of his department.

Under an agreement reached between Dr. Cross and the Milk Association, at least 100,000 acres of crown land will be set aside for the 7,500 half-breed families on a half section of land, time to be located in the colonies.

NINE COLONIES

The plan, which has been outlined, and the Milk Association are in the city to discuss details of the settlement, with various officials of the government, including the minister.

The Milk Association is advancing a claim that they are entitled to the same treatment as the other colonies.

Another proposal under discussion is that the settlement be in the form of a board of persons in control and the Milk Association, as an agent, an administrator appointed by the government.

Agreement

Following the reaching of an agreement between Dr. Cross and the Milk Association, the plan will be drafted and will be submitted to the cabinet.
